This is the link to my online education course

If that does not work, you can copy the link into your browser

<https://tumpsh.github.io/online-education-course>

The course should be navigable by Clicking on the Introduction link, and then clicking the first lecture, and pressing the "next" link at the bottom to access each subsequent lesson. At the module overview pages in between modules, simply click the link for the first lesson in that module!

The contents of this .zip are as follows:

The contents include the contents of the git repository which is used to create the online course. It consists of markdown files which are turned into HTML pages by GitHub Pages

Additionally, there is a full outline of the course, with approximately similar content as the markdown files, in modules/outline.txt

Finally, there is a Zotero file, references.rdf, which can be imported into Zotero, and contains information which describes all of the works consulted for the project, including preliminary research, organized by assignments/project proposal/project itself. A few of the references are referenced in the actual modules themselves, and links are provided in the HTML pages.
